Politics

On Tyranny – Timothy Snyder (very short and quick to read – great to mention in a personal statement – also if you are applying for history as this links historical events to what is happening today)

WTF by Robert Peston (June 2018) 'Richly argued and brilliantly written... a deeply thoughtful analysis that should be mandatory reading for anyone seeking to understand where we have gone wrong.' Vernon Bogdanor, Financial Times

Who governs Britain? Anthony King
Power escaped the grasp of the centre long ago. We no longer believe politicians can do what they say... This is the subject of a fine new book by the distinguished political scientist and veteran of BBC election nights, Anthony King (Philip Collins The Times)
A comprehensive and compelling guide to how government works in Britain and the sources of its many failings (Bill Emmott Financial Times)

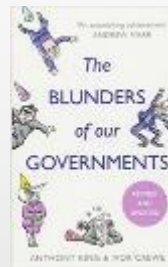

Inside Story: Politics, Intrigue and Treachery from Thatcher to Brexit – Philip Webster
This book is not, nor does it try to be, a complete political history of the period. All the better for it. This is history vignette by vignette. Regardless of how politics changed over four decades, Webster's essential activity remained the same – finding out things. He did that with distinction, through seven prime ministers, not to mention nine editors of The Times' The Times

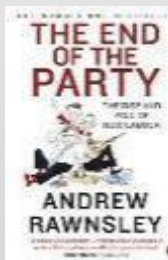

Populism - Jan-Werner Müller, What Is Populism? (Penguin 2017) Another short, accessible book! Donald Trump, Silvio Berlusconi, Marine Le Pen, Hugo Chávez—populists are on the rise across the globe. But what exactly is populism?...This book will help you understand this current phenomenon.

All Out War – Tim Shipman
An analysis of the Brexit campaign/debate/result I can't imagine a more even-handed or better sourced, all points-of-view account of the biggest story in British politics since WWII ... A fine book' ANDREW MARR, Sunday Times

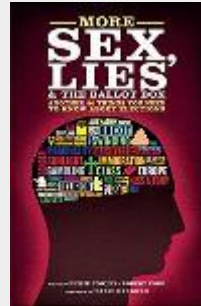

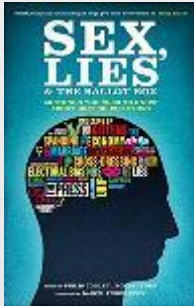

The Blunders of our Governments by Anthony King and Ivor Crewe 'An entertaining journey through the cock-ups of governments.'
A non-fiction choice in the Independent's 50 Best Winter Reads
'If Britain's politicians are among the world's most honest, hardworking and well-meaning, why do they mess up so badly and so often? A trenchant book that will make you see red, even as you laugh.'
(Best Books of 2013 Economist)

The End of the Party: The Rise and Fall of New Labour This engrossing book by Andrew Rawnsley, has pulled together a lot of clues. Less than a week old, it already has Westminster agog with its well-sourced but roundly denied allegations
(Economist) by Andrew Rawnsley

Politics 2

Sex, Lies and the Ballot Box: Fifty Things You Need to Know About Elections (and its sequel) This is a wonderfully eclectic collection of academic research translated into normal English. I can pay no higher tribute to it than to say that someone I know supported votes at 16 until he read the short chapter on the subject. This book may not change your life but it may change your mind. --The Independent

It is possible to gain a firmer grasp of the manifold peculiarities that pervade UK elections. I can recommend no better way of doing so than to read Sex, Lies & The Ballot Box.-- Democratic Audit UK

Global Politics

Interactive sites on different global issues are excellent and will give you a good over view of some of the topics we are covering over the year:

<https://www.cfr.org/interactives/crisis-guide-climate-change>

https://www.cfr.org/interactives/CG_Iran/?cid=oth-redirect-crisis_guide_iran

<https://www.cfr.org/interactives/crisis-guide-korean-peninsula>

<https://www.cfr.org/interactives/crisis-guide-israeli-palestinian-conflict>

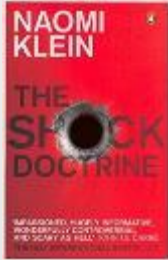

You can also sign up for news updates from the Council of Foreign relations

See the Populism book above – again key reading for understanding current global politics

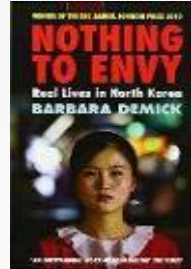

Keep an eye out for other articles on global politics in newspapers such as the Guardian and Financial Times e.g.

<https://www.theguardian.com/news/2018/apr/05/demise-of-the-nation-state-rana-dasgupta>

Politics 3

For understanding the impact of globalisation, try The Shock Doctrine by Naomi Klein Around the world in Britain, the United States, Asia and the Middle East, there are people with power who are cashing in on chaos; exploiting bloodshed and catastrophe to brutally remake our world in their image. They are the shock doctors.

A good book for understanding North Korea is Nothing to Envy – it reads like a novel tracking the lives of several North Koreans who managed to escape to South Korea. 'A spectacularly revealing and harrowing portrait of ordinary lives in the world's least ordinary country, North Korea'

What to watch/listen to...

There are lots of documentaries on YouTube on the key political figures/political parties in British politics which will help you consolidate your work from this year (e.g. The Downing Street years)

Dramas/Docu-dramas on Youtube: The Deal – a drama about the deal made between Blair and Brown

Theresa v Boris: The Battle to be PM

Comedy

The thick of it – Satire on the inner workings of government – very funny...

Movies

In the loop – spin off from The Thick of it satirical black comedy film directed by Armando Iannucci satirising Anglo-American politics in the 21st century, in particular the invasion of Iraq.

The Queen: Depicts response of royal family to death of Diana – also Tony Blair's relationship with queen during this period

The Iron Lady: based on life and career of Margaret Thatcher

Suffragette: Movie based around key characters in the fight for women's suffrage

Don't forget Audible - many great titles (including older texts, available for next to nothing) can be downloaded as audiobooks and this is much cheaper than buying. And you should be looking online at Unlock Democracy, Democratic Audit, The Constitution Unit, HoC Library, Financial times (good student discount) and The Economist.

Podcasts - There are some great ones around at the moment. See this link for suggestions:
